Student Thoughts Should P.E be a required class?

By Adria Layton

For as long as it has been around, P.E has always been made into a monster, but is it really that bad? Some students here at Hurricane Middle have answered that question.

Jaida Stover, an 8th grader says “I don’t love P.E but people would take it as an elective... it would be better as an elective.” Jaida explains that she doesn’t like P.E because it requires her to do things that she doesn’t want or like to do, such as running.

The other interview, Tripp Beatty, reveals that he likes P.E. He also stated “People would take P.E as an elective, but we should keep it a required class” Tripp likes P.E because it is and escape from learning and you get to play games.

Overall, some students like P.E and others don’t. So is P.E really a monster? It just depends on who you ask. According to the sources, P.E would do well as an elective class, but there isn’t enough data to determine if we should keep it required.

Animal of the Week

By Semaya Jones

Flamingos? What about them is so interesting? Why do people like them? Why don't people like them? Flamingos are amazing animals they are very interesting too. They can fly, swim, stand on one foot, and many more interesting things. Did you know that it takes Flamingos 3 years to get all of their pink and red feathers. WOW!! They can also feed their children with food they produce!

Let's see what people think about them. I have asked two people about them. One person said "I don't like them because they are the color pink and I don't like the color pink" interesting. He also said "They are really cool because of how tall they can stand." The second person we asked said that she "I like them because they get their color from food". That's cool. She said she does not like them because "They have red eyes and it scares me." That's funny! Now you know more about flamingos.

All about Mrs. Noble, new HMS Science Teacher

By Everett Breiter

Mrs. Noble has been teaching school for 5 years. This is her first year teaching at HMS. She has taught chemistry, chemistry of foods, biology, wildlife biology, physical science, zoology, forensic science and earth science. She went to Nevada State University and Majored in biology.

Some interesting facts about Mrs. Noble is that she likes the color blue. Her favorite shade of blue is dark. Her favorite animal is dogs but her favorite exotic animal is lions. Her birthday is June 22. She loves coaching volleyball and her favorite sport is baseball.

Some hobbies of hers include reading, watching movies, playing cards, Yahtzee, scrabble and her favorite rummikub. She is a very musically talented person playing piano, viola, clarinet and guitar. She loves spending time with her family.

Many sources say she is one of the best teachers. Boston Johnson says “She makes learning fun! Her class is exciting.” Tripp Beatty adds “She is one of my favorite teachers.” It sounds like she is making an impact on this school. Mrs. Noble loves this school and the staff. This has been my exclusive interview with Ms. Noble.

History Of Hurricane Utah

By Kloey Seegmiller

We all know where Hurricane city is in Utah. I mean that's where HMS is located. But there may be some things I Bet You Didn't Know about the town.

To start off we all have been desperate to know how Hurricane got its name and why its pronounced (her-a-kun). The reason for the weird pronunciation and being called really windy is in the 1860s a man named Erastus Snow named Hurricane after experiencing a whirl wind that blew off the top of a buggy when he was in it. Snow then said “That was a hurricane. We’ll name this Hurricane Hill”. Now why is it pronounced (her-a-kin)? Well hurricane was pronounced (hur-a-kun) by the local people mimicking the accent of the early Liverpudlian settlers.

Now we will be interviewing MaKinli Segler on her input on Hurricanes history. She thinks “Hurricane’s history is very cool. I think it is really cool that so many of my ancestors have stories that take place right here in Hurricane.” Everett Breiter says “ I think that Hurricane’s name is very well named because it is very windy here.” Now instead of you asking how Hurricane got its name, you can now tell others about Hurricanes history.

Favorite Part of Summer!

Cheralyn Higbee's favorite part of summer was going on a backpacking trip in Colorado with her cousins and her uncle. They hiked to Macy Lakes and camped there!

Jayden Brinkerhoff's favorite part of summer was going to Mesquite, Nevada with a friend. Jayden said that he was going to see a friend in Nevada that he had not seen in awhile.
